

program

---

A diagram illustrating the relationship between a program and a statement. A horizontal line is positioned below the word "program". A large, light-orange rectangular box with a black border is centered below this line. The word "statement" is written inside this box. Two curved lines, one on the left and one on the right, connect the horizontal line to the top corners of the box, suggesting that the statement is a component or part of the program.

statement